

Heatmap visualization of the 1000 most important features for the 1000 most important features. The x-axis represents the features, and the y-axis represents the importance scores. The color scale ranges from dark blue (low importance) to yellow (high importance). The heatmap shows a dense pattern of high importance scores across the features, with a prominent yellow region in the top right corner.