

A heatmap visualization showing the importance of features across different categories. The x-axis represents 1000 features, and the y-axis represents 1000 features. The color scale ranges from dark blue (low importance) to yellow (high importance). The heatmap shows a complex pattern of importance, with a prominent yellow region in the top right corner and a dark blue region in the bottom left corner.